SINGLE COPY 15 CENTS

TWO SECTIONS, 20 PAGES

Motion amended

Decision expected Monday on Depreo retrial request

By RICH ADAMS
Circuit Court Judge Leslie B. Grant who presided at the two murder trials of Charles Edward (Chuck) Depreo, said Friday he has replied to a special bill of exception filed last week by Depreo's attorneys requesting a new trial.

The bill filed Wednesday alleges improper sequestration of the jury and possible jury tampering during the accused's week-long second trial in January.

Depreo was convicted at that time of the April 6, 1976 murder of Waveland school teacher Janice Ladner in her Kiln home.

Grant said Friday he has written to Mobile, Ala. attorney James Atchison clarifying the court's position on the matter of a new trial, but would not elaborate on the contents of the correspondence.

Also Friday, Circuit Court Clerk Henry Otis received a copy of a letter to Grant from Atchison and an attachment to the bill of exception in which the defense attorney cites newspaper articles to which he believes jurors had access.

Accompanying the attachment are numerous newspaper articles on the trial from the Sea Coast Echo, Daily Herald, South Mississippi Sun, Times-Picayune, States Item, and Picayune Item which Atchison says could have prejudiced jurors if read by them during the trial.

Whether Grant can allow a new trial is unclear, as the time limit for filing a special bill of exception expires between 10 to 60 days following the close of

Crane topples, causes blackout

By RICH ADAMS
An estimated 1,000 homes and businesses in Bay St. Louis were without electricity Saturday morning after a "cherry picker" owned by Crown Equipment on Washington Street overturned and severed power and telephone lines.

A spokesman for Coast Electric Company said power went off in some 1,000 structures around 9:45 a.m. Saturday.

Electricity was restored to all but 100 homes and offices within the hour through the use of a bypass-feeder method, the company spokesman said.

The Crown Equipment vehicle, being used as a crane, was lifting a truck body from one chassis for transfer to a new chassis when the rear stabilizers failed and the crane boom eased slowly to the side, breaking a utility pole in half and knocking telephone and electric wires to the ground, according to Crown Equipment owner Jay Egan.

"We were changing bodies on a truck when the rear stabilizers failed and the cherry picker was upset," Egan said Saturday.

"Luckily, nobody was injured," he added.

Bay St. Louis Assistant Police Chief Frank Hess said several units from his department and a Mississippi Highway Patrol car were called to the scene to route traffic away from live wires.

Coast Electric and South Central Bell field personnel were called to the site to repair the damaged power and telephone lines, Hess added.

Coast delegation studies South Carolina's regional sewer system

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
GREENVILLE, S.C.—A delegation of Mississippi Gulf Coast officials, including representatives from Hancock County, Bay St. Louis and Waveland, toured an operating regional sewerage treatment system in Greenville, S.C.

The delegation, including Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge and Bay St. Louis Councilman Fred Wagner, discussed operation of this three-county system with the chairman of the Western Carolina Regional Sewer Authority who termed the operation

"highly successful."

E. H. Hembree heads the seven-member body here which manages the system, the origins of which extend back to the Greater Greenville Sewer District formed in 1925.

"Multi million dollar industries have located here," Hembree told the delegation, "because of our regional sewer system and we are able to provide sewerage to more people."

The nine municipalities along the Mississippi Gulf Coast counties of Hancock, Harrison and Jackson are currently under pressure from federal environmental agencies to develop a regional system for treating sewerage.

Adoption of a regional system is expected to raise consumer charges for sewerage services currently owned and operated by the individual communities.

The Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission (MAWWCC) endorses a $100 million, three-county regional plan, 75 percent federally funded, which would create a single authority, or commission to manage all treatment facilities on the Coast.

There is a sewerage treatment facility in Bay St. Louis which discharges treated waste into Watt's Bayou.

Waveland's sewerage treatment facility, which is fairly modern, uses Edward's Bayou as its discharge site. There are approximately 12 other treatment facilities publicly or privately owned in Hancock County.

City invokes water use ordinance

By EDGAR PEREZ
Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett reported Friday the city will invoke Sec. 24-21 of the City Code restricting the use of garden hoses and lawn sprinklers during the current drought.

"Our water table has dropped and the pressure in the city is low because of this lengthy dry spell," Bennett said, adding, "we are taking steps open to us now in hopes of averting what could become a very serious situation."

Engineer's contract explained

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge Saturday clarified statements made last week concerning possible assessment of liquidated damages if resurfacing of the Ansley Road between Lakeshore and the Port Bienville Industrial Park is not completed on schedule.

The supervisor said the contractor on the Ansley project, Shaw Supply Co. of Perkinston, may be subject to damages, not the engineering firm of Broadway and Seal of Picayune as previously reported.

"I have requested the contractor on the project be assessed $135 for every day the re-surfacing project extends beyond its completion date," Courge said.

Courge continued, "Under state-aid road project regulations, the con-

Management Expert Tells Buyers To Cut Spending

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Surviving an inflationary period requires adjusting. Spending habits must be reviewed and altered to take care of basic needs before desires.

Families who are surviving are learning to plan ahead for large expenditures such as a new roof, car, tire replacements and household repairs, says Bonita Bridges, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service area consumer management specialist.

Lump sums due on insurance are divided by the number of months covered in payment. A small amount reserved each month is easier to "come by" than a large payment every six months.

The price of gasoline stings, adds Mrs. Bridges. What can families do to adjust to the cost-of-gasoline? Share rides with a neighbor, walk, bicycle, stay home more and plan trips, to take care of several errands, she suggests.

Substituting is becoming a renewed art. "New" has less meaning. What do you have available to substitute for a purchase or a less expensive purchase? Many homemakers used spinach a few months ago when lettuce prices skyrocketed, she points out.

Do-it-yourself techniques allow some families to have money for luxuries such as vacations or better automobiles. Mowing your lawn, painting your home and changing oil in your auto require time and energy, but not a great deal of money.

Flexible, happy families plan the use of all dollars coming into the household. Even one dollar a week is important. A dollar a week wasted totals $52 a year.

Plan before spending. Designated money is easier to control, says Mrs. Bridges. Families are learning to live with less heat and cooling, using less hot water, using the oven for an entire meal and reducing the use of all electrical appliances.

We hope the second hearing will be better attended

The Bay St. Louis Council held a Small Cities Hearing Thursday and only a handful of people were interested enough to show up.

The thing which we cannot understand is that on a quick count of residences in the area, we got a total of 80 which will probably be directly involved with the project.

To familiarize you with the residents to whom we are referring, they are the ones who live in the 500 block of de Montluzin Avenue, State, St. John and Easterbrook Streets.

We even counted two business places and didn't see any of the owners or a representative.

There is even a church affected, but to our knowledge, we didn't recognize any members of the congregation.

A public utility is located on St. John, and we are sure if the project goes through, it will be directly involved, but no representation at the hearing.

And to top it off, we understand there is a civic organization constructing a new home on one of the streets and don't think we saw a single member concerned enough to attend the public hearing.

The second hearing for the Bay St. Louis 1979 Small Cities Project is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 3, at the Bay Council Chambers.

We hope there will be a better representation of the people living in the areas at this upcoming and last hearing on the project.

Some of the work planned on the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) project includes sewer and water improvements.

Now as all of us who have lived in Bay St. Louis for at least 10 years or so know, whenever sewer work is done, first off the streets are torn up, traffic is blocked and a lot of inconveniences are caused.

The main reason we cannot understand why only four or five showed up at the hearing who live in the 500 blocks of these streets baffles us. We do not think everyone has abandoned their home and moved elsewhere!

Another big question these people should be at the hearing asking is, will the streets be black topped after being torn up?

Is it laziness affecting the residents of Bay St. Louis, as well as other cities of this nation, or is it that we just do not give a care anymore?

We elect officials and as long as we are not directly affected, we don't give a hoot about them until four years later.

A public hearing is exactly what the wording means. It is a time for the residents of a particular community to express their opinions and ask questions about a special subject.

We plan on attending the hearing Tuesday and sure hope there will be a better representation this time.

This project will be all funded by HUD, but what about other projects where a tax increase has to be imposed on the residents to carry it through?

Would you want your taxes increased and not know it?

Things like that happen at times because we are lazy and not interested in the things going on around us.

Michoud ships Columbia's tanks

The huge propellant tank for the Space Shuttle Orbiter Columbia's engines is ready for flight and was shipped Friday from New Orleans to Kennedy Space Center.

The 154.2-foot-long, 27.5-foot-diameter tank will hold 140,000 gallons of liquid oxygen and 380,000 gallons of liquid hydrogen for the Columbia's maiden voyage into space. It will provide propellant to the three main engines for about eight minutes until the Columbia is at about 75 statute miles altitude, where the tank will separate from the spacecraft and fall into the ocean.

The External Tank is the only expendable part of the Space Shuttle.

Martin Marietta Corp. manufactures External Tanks for the Shuttle under a contract to NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala.

The manufacturing facility is located at Marshall's Michoud Assembly Facility in New Orleans.

Health and Safety Tip

Ochsner specialist urges caution in summer heat

The summer sun grows grass, tans swimmers and powers solar energy units. It also strikes down joggers, athletes and grass-cutters who fail to heed its dangerous potential for inflicting serious injury and death.

Sparing neither the physically fit nor the elderly, the sun attacks the unsuspecting and those who throw caution to the winds. The results range from heat cramps and heat exhaustion to heat stroke and heart failure.

Here are the symptoms, supplied by Dr. Larry Blonde, an endocrinologist at the Ochsner Medical Institutions in New Orleans and a long-time jogger. Heat cramps normally strike men who are in good physical condition and who are acclimated to the heat. The disorder brings intermittent but often intense pain, usually in exercised muscles, such as those in the legs of a runner.

The cramps are caused by sodium deficiency, and are relieved by drinking a salt solution or by taking salt tablets with water. Most common of heat-related injuries is heat exhaustion. It is brought on by either a water loss or salt loss in the victim, or a combination of the two. Symptoms include fatigue, nausea, weakness and vomiting.

Water-loss victims feel thirsty and have a high body temperature, in addition to the other symptoms. Salt-loss victims may experience heat cramps also, and in severe cases, high temperature.

Recovery is quick after a rest and the consumption of an appropriate saline solution. Similar to heat exhaustion but more serious is heat stroke, which kills 80 percent of its victims who are not cared for promptly and correctly.

Heat stroke patients experience a very high fever (rectal temperature in excess of 106 degrees), delirium and lack of sweating. However, lack of sweating cannot be used as an always reliable indicator of heat stroke, because more than 50 percent of all heat stroke victims continue to sweat.

Shock, coma, convulsions, kidney failure, liver failure, and widespread bleeding may occur in heat stroke victims.

Treatment of heat stroke consists of immersing the patient in ice water until body temperature drops to 102 degrees. The administering of appropriate salt, water fluids, and other measures of life support are also vital.

Sooner treatment in the Gulf South's hot, humid climate is an invitation to heat injury.

In order to cool itself, the human body must benefit from the evaporation of perspiration on the skin. Since humidity is already a measure of sweat evaporation, the body is at a disadvantage in humid climates.

During the summer months, exercise should be done in the early morning or late evening when the heat is not so intense.

temperature and humidity are low (before 8 a.m. and after 5 p.m.).

During prolonged exercise, consumption of fluids about every 15 minutes is essential.

Salt supplementation is important for prolonged strenuous exercise. But if you take in salt you must drink water as well.

The warning signs of heat illness include dry skin (the most dangerous sign), chills, a throbbing pressure in the head, nausea, hair erection on the arms, chest, and back of the neck, or loss of more than 3 percent body weight after a workout.

If warning signs appear, you should stop, drink fluids and rest in a cool shaded area.

The dangers of heat injury are greatest during the first occasions of exertion in a hot, humid environment.

After ten to twenty days of hot weather, the body will be acclimated somewhat, and increased activity can be tolerated.

Anyone taking medication or with a history of any illness should consult a doctor before undertaking any physical fitness program.

Heart failure brought on by the circulatory system's frantic cooling attempts can strike down the elderly during the hot summer months.

They should make all efforts to avoid strenuous outdoor activity.

Finally, discretion is the better part of valor when exercising outdoors this time of the year.

Dear Mr. Cuevas:

It was a sad occasion for our entire community, as well as for many people from outside of our state boundaries to learn that our jovial, compassionate and beloved friends, Lawrence and Tottie Jacobi had decided to close the well-known landmark, "The Bobby Ann Bakery."

This couple for many years has meant more to this community than I have words to describe.

The doors of their shop will be closed, but because of the type people that they are, I am sure that their hearts will remain open.

We will all miss going into the shop to pick up our doughnuts and bread and not seeing Tottie's smiling face behind the counter or her warm wave from the kitchen. After Saturday, the aroma from Lawrence's ovens will be gone from the area, but not from our memories.

HWY. 604 FATALITY-Gordon J. Hardy, 50, of West David Drive in Gulfport, suffered fatal injuries in what law enforcement officials are terming a "freak accident" on Hwy. 604 in Pearlinton about 12:45 p.m. Friday. Hardy apparently lost control of his pick-up truck while crossing a small creek on a wooden bridge, ran into a roadside ditch and smashed head-on into a cement culvert, according to Highway Patrolman Hershel Ladner. Hardy was rushed to Memorial Hospital in Sibley, La. by Mobil Medie, where he was pronounced dead on arrival of massive internal and head injuries, according to police. Hancock County Sheriff's Deputies Delbert Seay and Romie Cuevas also responded to the accident. The mishap is still under investigation, according to police. Damages.....CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A tractor is required to completely resurface the road in 150 fair-weather working days."

The contractor, through June 20, had used 141 of his fair-weather working days, the supervisor stated.

"The contractor was not working on the road for several days when the weather was good," the supervisor explained. "So I decided to notify engineer Marcus Williams of the State Aid Road Division we would seek damages from the contractors if the work is not completed on schedule."

"The contractor," he continued, "has supervised the widening and some resurfacing of the three miles of road, in addition to the installation of a drainage system underneath."

The supervisor noted Shaw reported the delay was caused by submergence of gravel during a recent flood, gravel necessary to the production of asphalt for the Ansley Road project.

"What remains to be done," Courrage continued, "is to put a base coat on one-fourth mile of the road and two overlay surfaces over the remainder of the road."

Courrage said the State Aid Road Division may grant the contractor a time extension on the project.

Courrage added, "I made a motion Larry Seal, Hancock County's engineer, whose duties include inspecting the project for the county and state, notify the contractor the county would seek liquidated damages if the project is not completed on time."

Prevailing misconceptions among officials and news media personnel about the contractual relationship between the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and Larry Seal, county engineer, who is also a partner in the Picaune engineering firm of Broadway and Seal, have apparently caused erroneous reports to be published indicating the firm shouldered responsibility for county road projects.

Earlier reports on the situation indicated the Picaune engineering firm of Broadway and Seal was responsible for supervision of the Ansley Road project and thus responsible for delay and liable for liquidated damage charges.

Courrage explained Saturday, however, that Picaune engineering nothing to do with the Ansley Road project.

The project falls under the jurisdiction of Larry Seal who as an individual engineer serves as Hancock County's engineer.

Donn Murray of Bay St. Louis, when engaged on Hancock County road projects, serves as an employee of Larry Seal in Seal's capacity of county engineer.

Murray does not represent Broadway and Seal Engineers on Hancock County road projects and state-aid projects in Hancock County.

Registration office open extra hours

Deadline to register to vote in the primary elections of August 7th and August 28th is noon Saturday, July 7.

In order to accommodate persons who have not registered yet, Registrar of Voters Henry Otis said his office will remain open until 8 p.m. Thursday, July 5, and from 8 a.m. until noon Saturday, July 7.

Only business pertaining to registration of voters will be handled during these times, Otis noted.

Any permanent resident who has lived in Hancock County for 30 days or more may register prior to the deadline and vote in the August primaries. In the case of teen-agers, anyone who is now just 17 years-of-age may register during this period if he or she will be 18 on or before the date of the General Election, Nov. 6, Otis explained.

There will be both Democratic and Republican elections on August 7, with almost all offices on the Democratic ballot, while the Republican ballot will have candidates for governor, secretary of state, and attorney general.

According to law, a person may only vote without the Democratic or Republican ballot, not both.

Also, according to law the names of any candidates who have been in the race for the past year must be on the ballot. Also, any candidates who are already registered in the primary election must be on the ballot.

STARTING WHERE THEY ARE

Winston county, Mississippi, has been selected as one of ten counties in the nation as a model to upgrade the quality of rural life among small farmers largely by obtaining local, state and national support to the workable premise of starting where you are with what you've got.

Last week nine federal agency representatives from Washington, D.C. joined state agency spokesmen and local officials for a day long session and tour in Louisville arranged by the Cooperative Extension Service for the purposes of assessing exactly where small farmers of Winston county stand today in the economic life stream of that northeast Mississippi county, and then agreeing upon achievable goals that may be reached during the next 30 months by all agencies working together at all levels to bestir imagination and accomplishment.

Called the Mississippi Small Farm Family Assistance Project, the effort was chaired last week by Dr. Rupert Johnson, extension economist, and even as you read this report is well on the road to better fulfill the dreams and needs of small farmers and disadvantaged citizens.

The Winston pilot can and should be duplicated by almost all counties in the state. It requires no new laws, no new federal grants or programs - but rather a dedication on the part of local leaders to enroll many hundreds of small farm families in projects already available to them. Further, Winston, a hilly, forested county with only about one-tenth of its land suitable for row crops, is typical of many counties in north central and northeast Mississippi. According to the 1970 census slightly more than one-third of its 1,985 farms were reportedly below the poverty level.

Major contributors to agricultural income in the county are forestry, 8 million; cattle and calves, $3.5 million; and milk, $2.8 million. About half the farm operators in 1970 worked more than 100 days annually off the farm.

Some of the agencies and their goals in the county are: ASCS: Provide farm commodity price guarantees, loans, disaster provisions, and cost-sharing projects for soil and water conservation with $42,000 in the kitty to be used to pay 80 percent of the cost of cost-sharing projects.

FARMERS HOME ADMINISTRATION: Loans to 200-300 small farm families over the three-year period. Loans to be used to buy land; refinance debts; construct, repair or improve buildings; improve farmland; develop water facilities; or establish farm-based business enterprises to supplement farm income.

EXTENSION SERVICE: Involve 450 farmers in vegetable production, 25 in feeder pig production; 100 participants in a housing clinic and food and nutrition program, and 50 youth in a 4-H Community Pride Program.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE: Render technical assistance needed to conserve basic soil and water resources essential to small farming operations.

U.S. FOREST SERVICE: Provide wood-fuel for 150 small farm families from national forest lands and create awareness of job opportunities in timber harvesting.

Others to be involved in the bootstraps operation include Mississippi State University VISTA Volunteers who will take a year off from school to do field work in the county plus other volunteers from Louisville to assist through the Extension office. Unfortunately, there is not space in this article to mention all of the agencies involved.

Another effort will train and place rural families in industrial or other jobs through the cooperation of the State Employment Service. The county goal includes 400 persons placed in jobs and 40 in training programs.

An impressive tour was held last week of a new skill training center operated by a CETA grant in cooperation with Taylor Machine Works of Louisville where over 200 persons are being trained in technical skills with guaranteed placement of almost all who complete the course at the Taylor plant.

LIVESTOCK COMMENTS

The Agriculture Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, has proposed a feeder cattle grade change. The proposal was in the Federal Register, May 1, 1979, it asks for public comment, either pro or con.

Comments should reach the Department by July 1. The current grades are not applicable to the new slaughter grades, so a change must be made.

The proposed change would eliminate the grade names now used, and allow grade terms that are adaptable to the kinds and shapes of cattle now being produced in this country.

The proposed change would eliminate the grade names now used, and allow grade terms that are adaptable to the kinds and shapes of cattle now being produced in this country.

The proposed grades will use three frame sizes to describe cattle now being produced in this country. The proposed grades will use three frame sizes to describe cattle: LARGE, MEDIUM AND SMALL, and three degrees of muscling, 1, 2, and 3.

Large frame feeders would expect to come out of the feedlot with a finished weight of over 1200 lbs. Medium frame steers would finish out between 1000-1200 lbs. and Small frame less than 1000 lbs.

Minimum muscling requirements for the No. 1 grade are slightly thick throughout, No. 2 are narrow and the No. 3 grade is very narrow.

Soybean planting was 87 percent complete compared to 88 percent last year and 79 percent acreage. About 65 percent of the acreage was up to a stand compared to 72 percent last year and 71 percent average. The crop was in good to fair condition.

The cotton acreage was 44 percent squaring compared to 48 percent last year and 43 percent average. About 20 percent of the acreage was blooming compared to one percent last year. The crop was in fair condition.

Forty four percent of the corn acreage had silked, corn to the average for the date, compared to 42 percent last year. About 11 percent of the acreage had reached the dough stage compared to 8 percent last year. The crop was in good condition.

Sorghum planting was 87 percent complete compared to last year's 82 percent and the average of 80 percent.

Sweetpotatoes were 93 percent planted compared to 91 percent last year and 86 percent average.

The rice crop was in good to fair condition.

Pasture condition was also good to fair with dry weather slowing growth, especially in southern areas.

Winter wheat harvest was 88 percent complete compared to 83 percent last year and 84 percent average.

Hay crops were 36 percent harvested compared to 38 percent last year and 34 percent average.

Peaches were 15 percent harvested, the same as last year at this time, compared to 31 percent average.

Watermelon harvest was just getting underway with about one percent harvested, the same as last year at this time. Supplies of diesel and gasoline tightened with both rated tight to adequate. L.P. Gas supplies were rated mostly adequate.

COMMENTS

TUNICA CO. "Rain is badly needed to bring more than 50 percent of soybean crop up to stand. Cotton and other crops also need rain."

STONE CO. "Dry weather. Need rain to get stand of beans."

Former Picayune coach publishes sports article

An Assistant Professor in the University of Southern Mississippi's Department of Athletic Administration and Coaching, J. Larry Ladner, recently had an article published in the June issue of The Coaching Clinic magazine titled "The Base-Line Offense."

In the article Ladner related how small details like the base-line offense can determine the difference between victory and defeat in a basketball game.

Along with discussing the various types of base-line offense, Ladner offered tips on important aspects like momentum and poise, the pick and roll, flooding, practice organization and personnel alignment.

Ladner has served as the basketball specialist in the USM Department of Athletic Administration and Coaching since 1971. He teaches fundamentals and techniques of coaching basketball and related disciplines.

Prior to joining the AAC department at USM, he was a highly successful coach at Picayune Memorial High School where he compiled a 253-82 record in 11 years.

'Sudden impuse' prompted PH&R winner to register

By KATHIE KOCH

A sudden impulse got him into it, but it was Kenny Sharp's natural sports ability that earned him first place in his age division at the District Pitch, Hit and Run Competition in Gretna, La., on June 9.

With a shy smile, the tanned, dark-haired boy explained why he almost didn't participate in the local Bay St. Louis competition which sent him on his way to the district and now the division competition.

"I just didn't think it'd be that fun or anything," he said shrugging his shoulders. "But my friend was in it, and I just went out to watch him."

One look was enough to change his mind, so Kenny raced home on his bicycle, got his mother to sign the entry blank and arrived back at the field in time to capture first place in the 12-year-old bracket.

The competition, sponsored by Burger King and the National Recreation and Parks Association, was open to boys and girls age 9 through 12. The participants competed in pitching accuracy, hitting distance and running.

With a total score of 374, Kenny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sharp of Bay St. Louis, advanced to the District competition in Gretna. He received a perfect score for pitching, hit the baseball 197 feet and ran from home to first base in 4.6 seconds, for a winning score of 427.

Kenny and seven other district winners (two in each age bracket) now head for the division competition in Dallas, Texas today. All expenses are being paid for Kenny and his parents during their stay there by the Major League Baseball and Burger King Corporation.

Wearing a replica uniform of the Texas Rangers, Kenny will compete with winners in the 12-year bracket for a chance to participate in the finals at the 1979 All-Stars Game in the King Dome in Seattle, Wash.

Kenny had done well thus far, but he knows he must do better if he hopes to make it to the finals since only the two highest scorers in each age group are chosen.

"We talked to a man from Pitch, Hit and Run in New York who said Kenny had a very high score, but that's all we know," said his mother, Jean.

Though Kenny excels in baseball and played Little League Baseball on the Gulf National Bank team, his first love is soccer, he admitted his blue eyes twinkling.

He played the game for three years while his family was living in Sola, Norway, but has been unable to locate a team in this area.

It was while living in Norway that Kenny was introduced to baseball. "I just heard about it and wanted to try it out," he said. "It's come pretty easily to me."

Kenny made the All-Star Team, but baseball there was not as organized as Little League and they played on a gravel soccer field, he added.

Besides soccer and baseball, Kenny has won a medal for floor hockey and is now giving football a try. As far as career plans, sports are a definite possibility, he says, adding with a smile, "I'll probably have a hard time deciding which one."

USM grid tickets remain on sale

The priority deadline has passed for previous University of Southern Mississippi football season ticket holders but tickets for the five-game home slate continue on sale at the athletic ticket office in Green Coliseum.

In addition, orders are being accepted for individual games on the card. Home opponents and dates are Cincinnati, Sept. 15; North Texas State, Oct. 6; Tulane, Oct. 13; Memphis State (Homecoming), Oct. 20; and Arkansas State, Nov. 17. Games against Cincinnati, North Texas State and Tulane will have a 7:30 p.m. kickoff; the Memphis State contest will get underway at 2 p.m.; and the Arkansas State tilt will have a 1:30 p.m. start.

Tickets also can be ordered for the season's opener against Florida State in Tallahassee, a Sept. 29 meeting with Ole Miss in Jackson, and an Oct. 27 game against Mississippi State at Starkville.

QUEEN OF THE JUNGLE-The queen of beasts sits timidly with her two cubs in the hour-long special, "Lions of the Serengeti," which opens "Jane Goodall and the World of Animal Behavior" series on Mississippi ETV. The program can be seen at 7 p.m. Thursday, July 5, on the state wide ETV network.

OUTDOOR TOPICS

BLOOMIN' COUSINS

It's unlikely that roses and raspberries would have much in common, but they do.

These two share a kind of cousin-like relationship by belonging to the same plant family, and they both have thorns.

The rose, of course, is considered the prettiest and the raspberry the best to eat, but the opposite could be true according to Mercury Outboards' outdoor recreation department.

They point out that roses (wild bushes, too) produce a fruit called rose hips which can be picked and made into a delicious jelly, while raspberry blooms are often used as a centerpiece.

Raspberries, blackberries and many other wild plants also produce crops of juicy berries each summer.

Bay public hearing sparsely attended

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A handful of Bay St. Louis residents appeared before the Council Thursday for the first of two Small Cities Hearings on water and sewer improvements in the 500 blocks of deMontuain Avenue, State, St. John and Sycamore Streets.

A grant of $269,000 from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), if approved, will upgrade the sewer and water systems on the four streets.

Bay St. Louis is currently advertising for construction bids for a 1978 Small Cities Program involving the 500 blocks of Washington, Kellar and Sycamore Streets for sewer and water improvements.

Concern was shown by the Concerned Citizens at the hearing whether the 1979 grant would be in jeopardy because of the delay in getting the 1978 program underway.

Reasons for delay on the program were explained as "technicalities" such as securing rights-of-way which is time-consuming and involves the hiring of appraisers and other procedures.

Ronnie Murray, representative of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission and administrator for the 1978 Small Cities grant, said the city is not in danger of losing the 1979 funds because the city has full intentions of completing the HUD requirements before the deadline imposed by the federal agency.

One citizen questioned if the 1979 project would involve installation of sewer lines down the center of streets and was told "probably yes."

Council member Harry Farve, said "They will have to tear up the streets in order to install a sewer line. We do not have money in the grant to repair the streets but we are trying to make other arrangements on street repairs."

Mrs. Ethel Weaver, a resident of St. John Street, stressed concern about the gas line on that street which at times makes it impossible for her to sit on her porch because of leaks.

Farve commented, "I'm sure a lot of that gas line will have to be replaced if the street is disturbed with this project."

Council received numerous complaints in recent months about the gas leaks on St. John from both residents and a merchant on the street. Pete Benvenuti, council member commented to the small audience that, "When we went into office, our plan was to get water and sewer service into all-of-the-annexed areas. We had the Bouslog project which was set up by the prior administration. All we did was advertise and sign the contract."

"The mayor (Larry Bennett) and Mr. (Ronnie) Murray did a lot of research and found out about the Small Cities Programs. We picked out the area we thought would be the best to get the grant. The Washington, Kellar and Sycamore Streets was the first and it was approved, and acquisition of property has held us up a couple of months on that (1978) project," a spokesman for Concerned Citizens, "You are doing a good job with all the difficulties," as the hearing ended.

The application deadline is July 15 for the 1979 Small Cities Project. Full application funding allows $219,000 for construction; $21,000 for engineering; $8,000 for administration; and $21,000 for contingencies.

The second hearing is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 3rd, in the Bay Council Chambers.

Avenue exit in Harrison County when a Mississippi Coast Limousine Service bus rolled over one time landing upright on its wheels, Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol (MHSP) reported.

"A few women were thrown out of the windows when the bus turned over," Patrolman H.G. Simmons said.

"There were 14 women on the bus and all were taken to Gulfport Memorial Hospital, as well as the driver, Lloyd Barnes of Gulfport," Simmons noted.

A witness travelling behind the bus at the time of the accident said the bus-in the right lane of the highway-attempted to move into the right lane when the driver "apparently lost control," the officer stated.

After leaving the roadway, the bus overturned, and came to rest upright, Simmons reported.

The investigators attributed the accident to slick tires on the bus, and Barnes was charged with driving with improper equipment.

Patrolman Hershel Ladner said "The passengers on the bus are being taken to a meeting of the People's Federal Bank of Jackson at Diamondhead."

Of the 14 passengers, 11 were treated and released by the hospital. Admitted and listed in good condition were Mary Livingston, 44, of Union; Dorothy Lewis, 44, of Philadelphia; and Carolyn Mitchell of Kosciusko.

RIGHT SIDE UP-This Mississippi Coast Limousine Service bus overturned on I-10 near Menge Avenue Friday afternoon, injuring the 14 passengers on board and the driver. The Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol reported Jaws-of-Life rescue equipment was used in extracting some of the injured from the vehicle. Investigators attributed cause of the accident to slick tires on a wet highway. Driver Lloyd Barnes of Gulfport was charged with driving with improper equipment. MHSP reported. Bay water system improvements snagged by State Health Board

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Mayor Larry Bennett called a special meeting of the Bay Council Monday to report the State Board of Health will not permit the City to tie in proposed water lines to the system unless the Leonhard Street water well is working.

The Small Cities project for 1978 which is being advertised, calls for an improvement in the water system in the 500 blocks of Washington, Sycamore and Kellar Streets.

Bennett reported to the Council, "I have been notified by the State Board of Health, they will not give the o.k. to extend the water system in the 500 blocks of the three streets until such time the Leonhard Street well is in full operation."

At a May 22 meeting the Council tabled a recommendation by Advanced Development, Incorporated, (ADD) determining what repairs are required to put the well back into operation.

In the letter, Michael Smith, president of ADDI gave two proposals and estimates.

A cost estimate of $7,500 was given for repairing pressure controls and chlorination system and a lump sum fee of $10,000 for engineering.

"The city has a central control system and the Leonhard Street well. The estimated cost was given as $10,000 for the lump sum fee and $7,500 for the engineering fee. The city has a central control system and the Leonhard Street well. The estimated cost was given as $10,000 for the lump sum fee and $7,500 for the engineering fee."

wells so that the system is not over-pressurized, it is very important the pressure controls be set accurately by experienced technicians.

"Also, if the Leonhard Street well is not disengaged prior to the elevated storage tanks becoming full, the system will be over-pressurized, which caused damage to hot water heaters, as well as the distribution system itself."

"The fact that the system has been over-pressurized in the past, is evident by the numerous leaks in the distribution system throughout the city," Smith continued.

Council members were concerned by the deadlines which have been placed by the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) of July 15, 1979 for letting of contract for the Small Cities grant to Bay St. Louis.

The mayor told the group the State Board of Health wanted to see the well in operation before giving approval.

Ronnie Murray, Gulf Regional Planning Commission representative who is the administrator of the project, reported that the water part of improvements is one of the alternatives which HUD said could be placed in the bids in case the bids over exceed funds available.

Council member Pete Benvenuti moved to have ADDI prepare the plans and specifications for bids on the two proposals made by the firm on May 22.

Harry Farve, seconded the motion which carried unanimously.

Council member Ed Wagner and William Seay announced out of town but the Mayor said he contacted both by telephone and they both indicated they also are going to give a bid to ADDI on the Leonhard Street well.

Before the Council adjourned the meeting, Bennett said he received a letter in reference to the Small Cities Project from Jerry F. Perkins, director of HUD in Jackson.

The Mayor read parts of the letter stating a $2,400 proposal for soil tests as not being most advantageous to the grantee and the City will have to pay $1,300 of the amount for the soil borings.

A proposal of $1,200 was given by Gulf Cities Laboratories Inc. for the soil borings which HUD stated, "Meets technical requirements for undertaking the soil borings and analysis."

Council previously hired a Baton Rouge firm for the soil borings, giving indications of preference because of a Ph.D. degree.

HUD's letter by Perkins states, "It has been determined that a Ph.D. degree is not necessary to take soil borings and have them tested by a reputable testing lab."

Council felt the letter was a contradiction to professional conduct with someone saying, "HUD contracts are a little different than others as being open and free for competition."

Joe Brown III of Brown Engineers, Inc. represented this firm at the meeting. Brown is engineer for the 1978 Small Cities project.

Depreo

trial during a court term, according to Section 99-17-41 of the 1972 Mississippi Code, Annotated.

Achison and his associate, Richard Horne, signed the bill and filed it Wednesday, accompanied by an affidavit in which juror Kelvin Schultz alleges many instances of improper jury handling outside the courtroom by court officials.

Schultz alleges that jurors were allowed to leave their rooms in the Waveland Resort Inn where they were sequestered during the trial and visit family members.

Jurors viewed television and read newspaper articles concerning the trial; left the motel with family members to other locations after being sequestered, the affidavit alleges.

A spokesman at the state attorney general's office in Jackson declined to comment on timeliness of Achison's filing of the bill of exceptions.

A spokesman from the State Supreme Court in which an appeal of Depreo's conviction is pending, also declined to comment on the matter.

District Attorney Albert Necaise also declined comment on the matter, noting he would wait to see what Judge Grant's position will be if it is expressed in his letter to Achison which is expected to be officially attached to the case record in Hancock County Circuit Court Monday.

Legal sources indicated the case may now be outside Judge Grant's jurisdiction, the time of filing the bill of exception coming too late after the court term in which the trial took place.

These sources indicated the information included in the special bill of exception may be entered into court records and forwarded to the Supreme Court for consideration.

However, such information would, at this time, best be entered through writ of habeas corpus, the local attorneys said.

According to the Code, "Bills of exceptions to any ruling of the court, made before the jury retires from the box, must be tendered and signed during the trial, or during the term of the court, and bills of exceptions to judgments overruling motions for new trials must be presented to the judge for his signature during the term or within ten days, as the court may allow, after the end of the term, not exceeding sixty days, at court may allow, after the end of the term, and must be signed promptly by him (the judge) if found to be correct."

The Circuit Court term during which Depreo was convicted ended in January, extending the 60 day period in which to file a bill of exception sometime in late April.

Legal sources indicated such a writ or similar document would probably be more appropriate in the matter, as a bill of exception is not called for this late in the course of appeal.

Achison's letter to Grant states, "I trust the form of pleading is proper under Mississippi law and request if I have omitted any necessary forms the court will advise so I can immediately do the necessary to protect my client's interest."

It is also noted for your consideration that copies of newspaper articles contained in various newspapers available in the courtroom during the trial, and copies of the bill of exceptions, are being made available to the public. The bill of exceptions and copies of newspaper articles are being made available to the public at the state attorney general's office in Jackson, Mississippi, and at the state supreme court in Tallahassee, Florida.

The Clean Water Act of 1977, often referred to as the 201-208 Study, requires additional and upgraded treatment facilities be built by 1983.

"Gulf Coast waters and waterways such as Watt's and Edward's Bayous are health hazards—they are polluted with fecal coliforms," MAWPCC Sanitation Engineer Caleb Dana says.

Dana warns there is also danger to the biological systems in those waters, which in the future may decrease the production of seafood within coastal waters.

"Five milligrams per liter of oxygen is needed to sustain the biotic system in area waters, and studies have shown oxygen levels as low as one milligram and as high as six milligrams per liter along the coast," Dana explained.

Both the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the state pollution control commission have warned municipal governments they will be subject to fines of $500,000 per day if by 1983 a wastewater plan is not adopted to remedy the pollution problem along the coast.

The EPA has threatened to ban the addition of new businesses and residences from connecting to local sewer systems, thus stymieing growth in the area.

An interim 12-member regional wastewater commission was established this spring by the Mississippi Legislature.

The commission's duties include selection of a best management plan from among several alternatives.

"I would like to point out to the court that in regard to the newspaper articles and their possible effect on the jurors, one incident in particular being a question posed by one of the jurors, I believe Thursday morning, January 25, 1979," his letter continues.

"The juror, Heidi Taylor I believe, inquired in open court requesting that the defendant's attorneys identify themselves and this came after the district attorney's motion (for a) restraining order on lawyers' comments to the media outside the presence of the jury on Wednesday, January 24, 1979, all of which was reported in the various newspapers," the letter reads.

"One article in particular was in the 'Sea Coast Echo,' Thursday, January 25, 1979, with the heading, 'Attorneys to limit comment,'" the letter states.

"The following portions of the subject article are typical of media reports of this incident:

"In his letter to Grant, Achison then extracts from an Echo article published during the trial which quotes the district attorney and Judge Grant.

The letter quotes the Echo as reporting the attorneys agreed to suppress inflammatory statements to the press after Necaise requested Grant impose a restraining order on lawyers involved in the case.

The article quotes the district attorney in court implying the defense attorneys made improper statements the previous day to a 'Mississippi Sun' reporter.

"This case ought to be tried in the courtroom, not the newspaper," Necaise said as saying when requesting the restraining order.

Grant then warned the attorneys to limit their statements to the press.

"The attorneys must be careful about the way they plead this case with the public," Grant said during the trial.

In his letter to Grant last week, Achison then states, "It is inescapable that the newspaper articles in regard to this particular aspect (of the trial) were damaging to the defendant and indicated improper actions by the defense counsel which I submit was not the case."

Copies of the letter and 19 news articles were sent to the state attorney general's office and district attorney, according to the copy filed in the Circuit Court clerk's office.

bordering on a serious lack of rainfall have combined to give us our present water problems," the mayor explained.

The ordinance to be enforced during this dry period limits use of garden hoses and lawn sprinklers to the hours of 7 to 9 a.m. and 5 to 7 p.m.

"I would like to emphasize the importance of cooperation with these regulations," Bennett stressed.

"If necessary, violators will be ticketed by the police and required to appear in City Court," the mayor warned.

Bennett also reminded residents burning permits have been suspended for the duration of the dry spell due to the accompanying fire dangers.

The delegation which visited South Carolina Wednesday included members of this commission.

The group's South Carolina visit, financed by MAWPCC, provided the delegation an opportunity to study first hand a regional sewerage system to determine how well one might work and what is involved in the implementation, organization and development of such a system.

Hembree and a retired superintendent of the South Carolina system answered questions on the regional concept for Mississippi officials who had arrived in South Carolina Tuesday night.

A conference with the sewer authority representatives opened Wednesday morning, followed by the tour of a $40 million treatment plant and a smaller plant, both in the City of Greenville.

The system here operates 40 treatment facilities, 29 sewage pumping stations, and maintains more than 150 miles of major trunk sewer lines.

The authority's responsibility is to treat or remove pollutants from the sewage and wastewater discharges from residential, commercial and industrial facilities within its jurisdiction, prior to the used water being returned to local rivers and streams.

Officials from Harrison and Jackson counties in the delegation include William Hardin of Moss Point; I. G. Levy, Pascagoula council member; Bill Mitchell, assistant city engineer of Gulfport; Ronnie Shelle, Long Beach alderman; Dominic Fallo, Biloxi commissioner of public works; Goe Garrard II, Ocean Springs alderman; W.V. (Billy) Hardin, Moss Point alderman; and Hank Rodrigue, Pass Christian alderman.

Hembree, who is also a builder and land developer, said, "The Western Carolina Regional Sewer Authority's success is largely due to some of the best engineers in the United States designing the system."

"Qualified, well-educated personnel operate and maintain the system," he added.

"And we have consolidated services such as laboratory work," he continued.

"The key individual in the operation of the regional system is the superintendent," the chairman added. "He's the one who is constantly supervising everything."

Wagner responded, "Considering that we would be beginning a regional system, in the beginning would it be better to hire a superintendent who is a manager-administrator type, or one that is an engineer-type?"

"In the beginning I suggest you hire the manager-administrator type," he replied.

Hembree elaborated, "The superintendent's qualifications, in addition to management knowledge, should include, a background in chemistry, eight to 10 years of sewer experience, some background in bacteriology and civil engineering."

The chairman noted—Clemson University in South Carolina offers a curriculum in sanitation engineering and wastewater treatment plant operations, and graduates from there may meet qualifications.

The hierarchy of the Western Regional Sewer Authority organizational chart is as follows: a seven-member board of commissioners; a superintendent; and three directors, administration, engineering, operation and maintenance.

The commissioners were nominated by South Carolina legislators and appointed by the governor.

The superintendent of the authority is responsible for the overall functioning of the authority which includes operation, maintenance, administration, planning and technical aspects.

The superintendent is assisted by three directors who manage the day to day affairs within their respective departments.

The authority has approximately 100 full time staff members and employees. "We are treating sewer under the most adverse circumstances and considering the amount of money we charge for the service we will put our track record against anyone," Hembree remarked.

The authority charges 53 cents per 1000 gallons of water used by a consumer for sewer services, the minimum being $2 per quarter. The regional system's operation is financed by revenues from user charges.

The consumer's user charge, based on water consumption, is billed quarterly.

John Spence, a retired superintendent for the authority, told the delegation South Carolina's regional system started with the consolidation of sewer treatment plants in Greenville County solely.

"Later, the other two counties (Anderson and Laurens) joined us to form the tri-county regional system, after they saw how well the regional system worked in our county," Spence added.

Councilman Levy interjected, "On the Coast we have a different situation, what were trying to do is, at the beginning, get all three counties to join and form a regional system."

"There is a lot of controversy in deciding which is the best method of managing a sewer system," Levy continued.

The alternatives on management include each county developing its regional system; two counties joining together; all three counties joining together; or leaving things the way they are with each municipality managing its individual treatment facilities.

Levy said presently nothing is being done because everyone is trying to decide which method is best.

Spence replied, "It sounds like you have a sick patient with the doctors not being able to agree on the treatment, so you let the patient die."

"Waveland Mayor John Long has consistently urged that Hancock County become a regional sewer entity, but does not want the county to join with the other two coastal counties."

"We should start forming a regional system immediately, but only in Hancock County."

If a regional system is formed, the entity managing the system would assume ownership of all treatment plants in that region under proposals currently under consideration.

Each treatment facility would be purchased for the amount of bonded indebtedness of the plants, according to one alternative plan for acquisition.

Hembree emphasized that the regional system here is in "good condition financially."

The chairman explained that revenues here from the regional system are being used to retire bonded indebtedness and finance operation and maintenance costs.

The chairman also noted "The authority is a component of the state government."

DR. AND MRS. H. SANFORD FRANK

Texas garden ceremony unites Lusich, Frank

Charlene Dedaux Lusich became the bride of Dr. H. Sanford Frank on June 22 in the garden of Central Christian Church at Weatherford, Texas, at a sunset ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dedaux of Perkinston.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Murry Frank of Wichita Falls, Texas, and grandson of Mrs. Sarah Ribnick of Houston, Texas. Rev. Ken Cuppert of Weatherford performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride presented herself in marriage. She wore a long dress of soft blue flowered challes with white chantilly lace bodice and long white lace sleeves trimmed at the waist and neck with a baby blue satin ribbon.

Her headpiece was made up of forget-me-nots and orange blossoms, and the bride's bouquet was made up of baby's breath, white and blue daisies.

The matron of honor was Jo Carol Rhuman of Fort Worth, Texas. Best man was Dr. Dan Lawrence of Fort Worth, Texas.

The bride earned the BS degree in elementary education from the University of Southern Mississippi and is studying for her master's in library science.

The groom earned a BA degree at Midwestern State University and master's from the University of Texas at El Paso, and the Ph. D. in psychology from the University of Southern Mississippi.

He was certified in psychology by the State of Texas and is now employed by Pecan Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center in Granbury, Texas. The couple will make their home in Granbury, Texas.

Miss Patricia Shiyou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Shiyou of Kiln, Miss., and Avnel John Cuevas III, son of Mrs. Irma Cuevas, Bay Kiln, were married Saturday afternoon, June 23, at a Nuptial Mass in Annunciation Catholic Church, Kiln.

Rev. Austin Walsh performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by branched candelabra entwined with peach and white gladioli, white pom poms and baby's breath. Mrs. John McKenna, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of quiana jersey trimmed in Venice lace fashioned with a high neckline, full bishop sleeves and chapel length train.

Her mantilla of bridal illusion trimmed with lace was held by a caplet of Venice lace and seed pearls. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white cymbidium orchids, stephanotis, baby's breath and greenery.

She wore a diamond pendant, a gift of the groom.

Roxanne Mauffray, Kiln, Miss., attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's sisters Maydene Shiyou of Long Beach and Nancy Shiyou, Kiln; Beverly Wyatt, Kiln, cousin of the bride; Paula Stuckey and India Van, both of Hattiesburg.

Flower girl was Rachele Breland of Waveland.

They wore pale blue chiffonette empire style gowns and baby's breath headpieces and carried old fashioned bouquets of peach silk sweetheart roses and azaleas.

Thomas Longo, Waveland, served as best man. Groomsmen were Burlin Cuevas, Kiln, cousin of the groom; Ray Breland and Clarence Piazza, Waveland; Carl Olson and Fred Dupuy Jr., Kiln.

Ushers were Jerry Wiggins, Hattiesburg and Merlin Neale, Waveland. Richard Haas served as ring bearer.

The bride's mother received guests wearing a pink quiana gown featuring a blouson bodice and soft flowing skirt. A pink and white carnation corsage completed her ensemble.

The groom's mother chose a blue floral gown fashioned with a soft flowing skirt and a corsage of white carnations. A reception was held at Joutjan River Shore clubhouse where the bride's table held the tiered wedding cake.

Candelabra interspersed with white peach and orange pompoms, carnations and baby's breath completed the table decorations.

Mrs. Doris Wyatt, Kiln, aunt of the bride, presided at the cake table and Mrs. Louise Depree, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Lynn Lee, cousin of the groom, kept the guest register.

For their wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, the bride chose a two piece beige floral print dress and a white cymbidium orchid corsage.

The couple will reside at Bayou LeTerre, Kiln.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Algerine Arnold, Baton Rouge, Frazier Bailey Jr. and Linda Lee Bailey, Rayville, La.

MR. AND MRS. H.E. SMITH

Hilton Smiths honored on golden anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were presented with a number of gifts and keepsakes from their children. Among these were a gold cake server engraved with their names and wedding date; a family tree album containing mementoes of their married life; and an "anniversary collage" of photographs of their children, grandchildren, and of the anniversary party.

A highlight of the celebration was the presentation of "Our Legacy from Mama and Daddy" by their son Davis H. Smith, an attorney who resides in Jackson. The "Legacy" represented several months' work on the part of all seven children, and consisted of a collection of both humorous and serious memories, anecdotes, stories, songs, and teachings which Mr. and Mrs. Smith shared with their children over the years, and which the parents felt provided the children with "guideposts for living."

A copy of "The Legacy" was also presented to Mr. and Mrs. Smith for their keepsake album.

Numerous congratulatory calls and messages were received from friends and relatives. The celebration from friends and relatives moved to Bay St. Louis in 1947.

The seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Hall Smith of Bay St. Louis honored the couple on their 50th wedding anniversary, June 24.

The all-day family celebration was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Loup III in Baton Rouge.

Mrs. Loup is the former Sue Smith. Co-hosts for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hilton Smith of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Jones Garcia III (Peggy Smith) of Baton Rouge, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Smith of Baton Rouge; Mr. and Mrs. Davis H. Smith, Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Smith, Bay St. Louis; and Miss Marianne Smith, Dallas, Texas.

All seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Smith are graduates of Bay High School.

The patio and reception rooms were decorated in a theme of gold and white, and consisted of arrangements and centerpieces of wedding bells and flowers.

Following a patio luncheon, which featured crawfish, shrimp, smoked turkey and ham, the group assembled in the reception rooms for the traditional cutting of the wedding cake.

Schuengel, Angstadt wed in double ring ceremony

MR. AND MRS. KEVIN LEE ANGSTADT

Miss Mary Beth Schuengel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Joseph Schuengel of Bay St. Louis, and Kevin Lee Angstadt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henry Angstadt of Shoemakersville, Pa., were married Saturday afternoon, June 9, in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Father Morgan Kavanagh, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. John McKenna, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an antebellum gown of white silk organza over bridal taffeta. The bodice featured a square neckline outlined in Venice lace and long full sleeves ending in lace cuffs. Her tiered skirt, edged in lace, swept to a chapel length train, and her full length veil of silk illusion, edged in lace, was held by a matching lace Juliet cap. She carried a colonial bouquet of white silk carnations and yellow lilies of the valley centered with a red rose.

Mrs. Tina Stockstill, Bay St. Louis, attended her sister as matron of honor and Miss Jennifer Angstadt, Shoemakersville, Pa., sister of the groom, was bridesmaid.

Lisa McGill, Waveland, served as junior bridesmaid; flower girl was Christina Wright of Waveland.

They wore double knit formal gowns in shades of pink, yellow and green with headpieces of silk daisies and baby's breath and carried red roses and babies breath interspersed with ribbons to match the shades of their dresses. The flower girl carried a basket of roses.

William Hillyard, Long Beach, Miss., served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Peter Harris, Long Beach, and William Hand, Pass Christian. Ushers were John Schuengel, Waveland, brother of the bride and Frank Rozik, Gulfport. Michael Stockstill, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The mother of the bride wore a long blue silk dress fashioned with a deep ruffle forming the neckline and a corsage of silk Talisman rose buds. The mother of the groom chose a blue floral print dress. A corsage of yellow silk rose buds completed her ensemble.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the American Legion Club House where the bride's table, overlaid with a white linen cloth, was centered with a four tier wedding cake trimmed with white spun sugar roses. Crystal candelabra and arrangements of red roses completed the table decorations.

Mrs. John Schuengel presided at the cake table and Mrs. Francis Lala at the punch bowl. Others assisting at the reception were Thomas Ladner and Kim Favre.

Mr. and Mrs. Angstadt will leave shortly for his new assignment in Japan.

MR. AND MRS. BILLY FROMMEYER

roses interspersed with greenery and miniature roses.

nots.

VA news

Q - I have a Veterans Administration education loan for $1,000. I terminated my school training on Dec. 15, 1978, and entered an on-the-job training program. When must I begin repaying the education loan?

A - Payments on your loan become due nine months from the date on which you terminated school training. Therefore, for a training program terminated on Dec. 15, 1978, the education loan becomes due Sept. 15, 1979.

Q - What papers must a veteran submit in order to establish eligibility for a Veterans Administration guaranteed home loan?

A - He must submit to his nearest VA assistance office originals or legible copies of his discharge or separation papers showing periods of military service and types of discharges. Also, obtain from VA and fill out a Request for Determination of Eligibility and Available Loan Guaranty Entitlement.

Q - I am service connected disabled for total blindness. Can I receive a guide dog through the Veterans Administration?

A - Guide dogs, including the expense of training the veteran to use the dog and the cost of the dog's medical care, are authorized services provided by VA to eligible veterans.

A - I served in the U.S. Army during peacetime and had no service connected disability. Am I eligible for VA hospitalization?

A - Veterans who are not receiving retired pay or compensation may be provided necessary hospitalization on a space available basis if they state under oath that they are unable to pay the expense of needed hospital care elsewhere. The "ability to pay" requirement does not apply to veterans 65 years of age or older or those receiving VA pension.

Q - I am a student in college and will graduate in the middle of the month. When will I receive my final GI Bill check from the Veterans Administration?

A - You will be paid the first of the month following your graduation.

Q - Will the VA help with expenses caused by my leg brace tearing my clothing?

A - Yes. A veteran receiving service-connected disability compensation for a disability which requires a prosthetic device (including wheelchairs) may receive an annual clothing allowance of $218.00.

Pulpit Points

By DR. L. S. WALKER
What do people seek after most? If you would ask most people, including the hundreds of thousands of high school and college graduates at this time of year what they most wanted out of life, they would doubtless answer: "Happiness!"
But what is happiness?

As someone has already put it: "Happiness is not what you have in your pocket but what you have in your heart."

Money won't buy happiness. That has been proven many times over.

Multimillionaire Jay Gould said before he died: "I suppose I am the most miserable man on earth."

Happiness lies not in pleasure. Lord Byron, after a life of pleasure moaned: "The worm, the canker and grief are mine alone."

Power won't produce happiness. Alexander the Great conquered the known world and then wept and said: "There are no more worlds to conquer."

Happiness lies not in believing God is dead, ignoring Him, or saying He does not exist.

Voltaire said he believed that, but wrote: "I wish I had never been born."

Howard Hughes probably tried it all, but died in misery, betrayed, broken and forsaken by his "friends."

Happiness is being saved by the marvelous grace of God - being born again. Happiness is in Christ. "Whoso trusteth in the Lord, happy is he!" - Prov. 16:20.

Jesus said: "Your heart shall rejoice, and your joy no man taketh from you" - John 16:22.

"For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" - Matt. 16:26, asked the Saviour.

Happiness is being yourself within the context of God's will for your life. Let God use you! The great and good things of history were performed by individuals, not the masses.

God did not create us equal, some warped popular opinions notwithstanding.

We are not robots. Live and function within the bounds of your god-given capacity. Be your own man, or woman, as the case may be.

Happiness is inequality. Happiness is accepting the challenge of handicaps. Beethoven was deaf. Churchill had a speech impediment as a boy.

Edison said success was about one percent inspiration and ninety nine percent perspiration.

Other than faith in God, sheer determination, patience and perseverance have been the difference in failure and success in many lives.

The great Apostle Paul, despite his own admitted handicaps, made his own imprint in history, said: "And let us not be weary in well doing; for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not" - Galatians 6:9.

Happiness is finding God's will and purpose for your life, and getting on with fulfilling it. Happiness is not in being idle. Happiness is in knowing you tried.

Seek diligently to know what is truth and right, then stick to it! Have good reason to know you are right, then go ahead; be sure you are wrong before you quit or change courses.

Happiness is knowing. Education is not merely school. A lot of very ignorant people went to school. Your education is the continuous development of mind, heart and character.

Character is like an iceberg; the part which counts for most is below the surface.

When this life is finished, and God calls you from time to eternity, the only thing of any value which you can take with you is your character.

News Brief

NEW SERIES

Three new weekend series have their premieres this week on Mississippi ETV. Additional reports cover sports medicine, sports promotions and sports psychology. "Sports Unlimited" can be seen Saturdays at 10 p.m., beginning July 7. "America After Vietnam" at 4 p.m. Sundays, beginning July 8, examines the changes in American society as a result of the Vietnam victims, who, four years after America's final withdrawal, begin to look at the lasting lessons of that experience.
